

MAGNETIC LABELS

By the warehouse identification & marking specialists

Magnetic location labels are produced from a unique 30 & 60mil magnetic rubber material. A flexible yet tough product, making them ideal for use in warehouses and distribution facilities.

Designs and layouts are unlimited but to help, we can recommend and provide common sizes with suggested layouts. We utilize our archive of design formats from previous projects and create original outlines to suit customer needs. Custom design and variable data handling are our specialty, compared with traditional label producers. Our understanding of the logistics industry is distinctive.

Mono and full color magnetic labels are supplied as standard and help with identification particularly when working with multi-level storage environments. Customers use them in ambient temperature environments as well as cold store and freezer facilities. They are extremely versatile.

Content may include barcodes, eye readable information, numeric, alpha and alphanumeric permutations. Linear and 2D barcodes and variable images. We have a fully proficient design and production team.
